What kind of people take the NEBOSH International Diploma?

Those seeking a successful long-term career in health and safety and who wish to be recognised as a professional in their field anywhere in the world.

What will I gain from the qualification?

Expertise - It takes your health and safety know-how to a higher level, helping you effectively manage and advise on risks in the workplace.

Satisfaction - It is both enjoyable and challenging. It will advance your skills as a health and safety practitioner and increase confidence in your abilities.

Achievement - It is seen throughout the world as a mark of professionalism and is comparable to gaining a UK education system degree level qualification. It's something to be proud of.

Recognition - The NEBOSH International Diploma is highly sought after by employers. Like all NEBOSH qualifications, it is held in high esteem everywhere.

The International Diploma is recognised by the Institution of Occupational Safety and Health (IOSH) - the major UK professional body in the field - as fulfilling the academic requirements for Graduate Membership (Grad IOSH) and as a first step to becoming a Chartered Safety and Health Practitioner as a Chartered Member of IOSH(CMIOSH).

Career development – The NEBOSH International Diploma is an essential platform for career advancement. It will help take you to the next level and beyond, wherever in the world you seek your career.

What will my employer gain from this qualification?

A safer workplace – Health and safety is important. It protects people from injury and loss of life. People with the NEBOSH International Diploma are highly effective at ensuring employers avoid prosecution, litigation, absence costs and loss of reputation.

Assurance – An employer whose staff are NEBOSH qualified is an employer committed to health and safety. The NEBOSH International Diploma provides professional-level safety assurance – which can help employers achieve recognised standards and help win new business.

Return on investment – An employee with a NEBOSH International Diploma has a set of high level skills that brings real value to the modern global workplace.

What does the course cover?

The syllabus comprises four core units:

Unit IA - International management of health and safety

Unit IB - International control of hazardous agents in the workplace

Unit IC - International workplace and work equipment safety

Unit ID - International application of health and safety theory and practice

Although there are no entry requirements for this qualification, the achievement of the NEBOSH International General Certificate or direct equivalent prior to undertaking the Diploma course is recommended.

Further details including a syllabus summary can be found on our website.

How is the course assessed?

Units IA, IB and IC are by written examination. Unit ID is a workplace-based assignment requiring application of learning across the syllabus.

A certificate is issued denoting successful achievement of each Unit. A Diploma qualification parchment is presented on completion of all four Units.

The standard of English required by students studying for the NEBOSH International Diploma must be such that they can both understand and articulate the concepts contained in the syllabus – further details are on the NEBOSH website.

Where can I take a course leading to the NEBOSH International Diploma?

Details of NEBOSH training providers operating in the UK and overseas are on our website. These training providers offer courses to fit around your requirements:

- Distance or blended learning
- Day or evening courses over a number of weeks
